Republican organization for its candidate for Mayor of Greater New-York, was talked of last night at the Republican headquarters. No one would admit, however, that Mr. Olcott had been agreed upon as the real candidate of the straight Republicans to oppose Mr. Low. Much eulogy was heard both as to the qualifications of Dis-trict-Attorney Olcott and Congressman Quigg.

TO WAIT FOR THE REPUBLICANS. NO NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE IMMEDIATELY BY THE CITIZENS UNION FOR CONTROLLER

AND PRESIDENT OF THE COUNCIL. A long secret session of the Executive Com mittee of the Citizens Union in the headquarters at No. 39 East Twenty-third-st. last night was spent mainly in discussion of plans for the campaign and names of candidates for Controller and President of the Council. No further message had been received from Seth Low, and members of the committee said they did not expect that his formed letter of acceptance would reach this city until to-morrow, possibly not until Monday.

The members of the committee at the meeting last night were James B. Reynolds, John C. Clark, J. Kennedy Tod, Richard Watson Gilder, George Tombleson, Edward D. Page, James Loeb, Thomas Clegg, John B. Pine, James W. Pryor and Henry White. While they talked about candidates in secret, some of them said after the meeting that no definite action was taken regarding nominations, and they did not know when the Sub-Committee on Nominations would make a report. When that report is made, they said, it will be made to the Joint Nominating Committee that nominated Seth Low for Mayor, and then the committees in the several boroughs will take action separately upon the report before any nominations are made by the joint committee.

While members of the Executive Committee at the meeting last night were careful not to make any statements to that effect, it was known that they were agreed not to have any further nominations made until the attitude of the Republican organization in regard to Seth Low has been determined. It is as good as settled that the Citizens Union will not make any further nominations until after the Republican City Convention has met. The leaders of the Union still expect that Mr. Low will be indorsed by that convention, and in that event it is to be expected that the Republican candidates for Controller and President of the Council will be nominated also by the Citizens Union if the candidates are men of high character and standing in the community. the meeting last night were careful not to make

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 30. DATE SET FOR THE DEMOCRATIC CITY CONVEN-TION OF GREATER NEW-YORK.

The Democratic General Conference Committee The Democratic General Conference Committee for Greater New-York met in the big ballroom of the Hoffman House last night to ratify the action taken by the sub-committee last week. The meeting was a quiet one, and everything was cut and dried before the session began. It was decided that the Democratic City Convention should be that the Democratic City Convention should be held on Thursday, September 39, at 7 o'clock p. in. John C. Sheehan presided, and among the committeemen present were Dr. John L. Feeny, of meeting of the Chizens Union at Schuetzen Hall, Richmond; James Moffat, secretary; J. J. Martia. Broadway and Steinway-ave., Long Island City. Borough of Manhattan; Bernard J. York, Brooklyn; James McCartney, Borough of the Bronx; J. H. Sutphin, Borough of Queens, and others, and there were few absences. There were a number of visi-tors present, including John F. McIntyre, Senator Carren and William L. Brown. William Sohmer was forced to absent himself on account of illness, and William P. Mitchell was substituted for him. Bernard J. York, on behalf of the sub-committee, reported that it had decided upon Thursday, September, 39, 1897, at 7 p. m., for the time of holding the convention, and that the basis of representation should be ten delegates and ten alternates from each Assembly district within the borders of Greater New-York, and five delegates and five alternates from each part of an Assembly district within such boroughs. The committee also reported that efforts had been made to secure Madison Square Garden for the convention, but that the Industrial Exposition would occupy the Garden that night; therefore efforts had been made to secure cademy of Music and several other places, and finally it was found that the Grand Centra Palace, at Lexington-ave, and Forty-third-st., was the only adequate building obtainable. It has a seat-ing capacity of 6,400. A contract was submitted which called for the renting of the place from 7 o'clock in the morning of the day of the convention until 7 o'clock of the next day. There was a clause in the contract giving the committee an option on snother date, but it was simply a "joker" to pre-vent the Republicans from holding their convention there if the committee should feel so disposed. It was decided to engage the hall and the convention

It had been appointed for the purpose of fixing a time and place for the holding of a convention, and had no power to confer with any one on such matters as those contained in the communication. His motion prevailed, and then the committee adjourned, after conferring on the subcommittee power to go ahead and arrange all the details for holding the convention.

NATIONAL DEMOCRACY EXECUTIVE COM-MITTEE.

The Executive Committee of the National Democ racy held a meeting last evening at headquarters, No. 258 West Twenty-third-st. The meeting was brief but largely attended, all of the thirty-five districts being represented except the IId. Chairman Keating presided, and the meeting transacted nothing but routine business. Francis M. Scott and John loman were among the committeemen present.

In view of the approaching campaign and the increasing legal difficulties that beset New-York voters creasing legal difficulties that beset New-York voters in the discharge of their duties and privileges, the meeting appointed a law committee to digest the statutes affecting the elective machinery and to steer the organization clear of any possible snags. The committee appointed consisted of Wallace Macharlane, Henry De Forest Baldwin, Roger Foster, Edward S. Kaufman and Hugh R. Garden. It was arranged that the County Committee shall meet for purposes of organization Thursday evening, September 15, and a committee of three was appointed to choose a suitable place for the meeting, It will probably be held at the Grand Central Palace.

NOMINATION FOR MAYOR. Worcester, Mass., Sept. 3.-Andrew H. Green, the "Father of Greater New-York," was seen at his summer home on Green Hill, in this city, to-day. He declined to discuss the present political situation in New-York, but when asked as to the probability of his becoming the Tammany candidate for first Mayor of the consolidated municipality, he said he was not a candidate in the sense that he was putting forth any effort to secure the nomination. Some of his friends and some of the newspapers had mentioned him in connection with the matter, and some of them had warmly urged that he should be chosen. He would not deny that he was grateful for the high compliment implied, but at the same time he was not seeking the office. On the other hand, he did not think it would be a graceful thing for him to decline at this time something which might never be offered to him.

Time would prove, he said, that such an acceptance was just what the people wanted, and what the people wanted, he added, they should have.

In closing his letter Father Malone said:

MR. HACKETT AT WORK.

Charles W. Hackett, chairman of the Republican State Committee, was busy at his desk at head-quarters in the Fifth Avenue Hotel yesterday. He announced that he was undecided as to the time he would issue the call for the meeting of the State committee. "I have not," he said, "fixed upon any date for the meeting, but it will probably be the latter part of the month."

The local situation was a matter Mr. Hackett did not care to discuss. "I have not been here long enough." he said, "to get any idea of the situation, so my opinion would be worthless. As for politics in general, I see nothing whatever to interfere with a sweeping Republican victory this fall all through the State." "I have not," he said, "fixed upon any

GOLD DEMOCRATS IN OHIO.

THEY NOMINATE A STATE TICKET, DECLARE FOR SOUND MONEY AND DENOUNCE THE DINGLEY TARIFF LAW.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 9.-The State Convention of the National Democrats to-day was not as large as expected, the attendance being limited probthe National Democrats to-day was not as large as expected, the attendance being limited probably to half a hundred delegates. The leaders of the party express themselves as well satisfied, however, and attribute the small attendance to the fact that business men geferally are less apprehensive on the money question than a year ago. They believe also that the party has pursued a wise policy in nominating a State ticket. This was the only question, in fact, on which a difference of opinion developed among the delegates. Although the committee appointed Wednesday night decided that it was advisable to nominate a State ticket, the opposition succeeding in having a plank slipped into the platform declaring it inexpedient to nominate a ticket.

A lively discussion was precipitated by this act of the minority, and it was found that the question involved was whether the party organization could be maintained more effectually by nominating or not nominating a State ticket. The majority seemed to think that a State ticket would give the party organization a prestige which it could not otherwise secure, and this plank of the platform was defeated by a decisive vote.

Next to the nomination of the ticket, the most important action of the convention was indorsing a candidate for the United States Senate. The proposition originated with the Frankin County delegates, and Joseph H. Outhwaite, of this city, was unanimously indorsed.

The following State ticket was nominated:
For Governor—Julius Dexter, Cincinnatt,

The convention met at 10 o'clock this morning in the Great Southern Theatre. Judge Beer, of Bucyrus, was made chairman, and, after a short introductory address, introduced W. D. Byshort introductory address, introduced W. D. By-num, of Indiana, who spoke about two hours on the money question. Letters were read from John G. Carlisle and Henry Watterson. Mr. Watterson said that if the party was to live there must be a restoration of Democratic principles. Mr. Carlisle declared that the Democrats who have remained faithful to the true principles of the party, as they were understood prior to the revolutionary declarations of 1856, should preserve their organizations, nominate candidates and prosecute vigorous contests in every State in the Union. Following is the platform adopted:

Many of the city leaders are also of the opinion that it will be a bad move for the suc-cess of the ticket to put colored men on it. Owing to the strong feeling, particularly in the eastern and southern counties, against such a move, the colored men themselves in all the districts are fighting over the men who will represent them in case it is decided to put them on the ticket. THE SANTA FE COLLISION.

TWELVE PERSONS WERE KILLED OUTRIGHT OR DIED SOON AFTER THE WRECK.

Emporia, Kan., Sept. 2 (Special).-The collision on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad last night proves to have been the worst disaster that has occurred on that system in many years. Twelve known to be dead, one missing (probably incinerated) and fourteen injured, two of whom are likely to die-this is the result, so far as can be learned. The first lists were incomplete because of the confusion attending the wreck. Even to-night it is not positively known that the list is complete, as it is believed that several persons were burned to death and that nothing was left by which they

The bodies of eleven have been found in the dethree burned beyond recognition. William Frishee, of Topeka, engineer of the eastbound fast who was last night reported among the injured, expired during the day, and Michael Mc-Glade and R. A. The wrecked trains were the fastest in the service-the fast mail, eastbound, and the California ind Mexico express, westbound. Each was running at least forty miles an hour. The wreck was caused by a miscarriage of orders by the train dispatcher. An order sent to Lang to the conductor of the westbound train to wait there was not delivered, and he supposed they were to pass at Emporia. The California train was almost an hour late. It carried eight passenger coachen, and all were crowded. The train was going around a slight curve, and met the fast mail without the least warning. There was a shock as if the trains had bumped up against a stone wall. Then there was an explosion, a crashing sound, an uncertain movement of the coaches, and all the lights went out. The cars were filled with steam and smoke, and the smoking-car of the westbound train was consumed in the burning wreck. The wonder is that the loss of life was not greater.

William Frisbee, engineer of the fast mail, whose home was in Topeka, was consclous until he died. He said, "I did not see the other train until I came upon it. I turned on the air and jumped. I presume I cannot recover, but I will die as bravely as I can. I want you men to leave me and help victims that are more unfortunate than I am."

A. R. Adams, who is among the injured, was on his way to Mexico from New-Jersey with registered bonds amounting to $30,000 and other valuables. They were all burned in the fire.

Human ghouls delved in the wreckage and plundered the mail sacks which strewed the ground. One man tried to snatch a diamond from the breast of an Emporia doctor who, weak and nervous, was creeping slowly out of the debris. He had strength enough left to hit the brute a blow in the face, which made him sneak away. Mail sacks were dragged into the cornfleid and rified.

The report at the Kansas City office is that practically all the mail on both of the wrecked trains was destroyed. One pouch, however, for Southern California, on the westbound train is said to have been saved. This train carried a large mail from New-York City to California, Colorado, New-Mex-leo and Artzona. The Rev. Dr. John P. Peters, of St. Michael's, spoke in the interest of the churches and Sunday-schools along the avenue. He said that the four tracks as they now exist were bad enough, but when it came to constructing a cable

Mr. Fulton said that he had seen Chief Bonner of the Fire Department, and that the latter had assured him that if resolutions were passed at the meeting he (Chief Bonner) would lay a copy of them before the Fire Commissioners at once, and ask their influence against the four-track nuisance from a fireman's standpoint. TO MAKE FARMS BEAUTIFUL.

SUGGESTIONS BY W. T. MACOUN, CANADIAN FORE-MAN OF FORESTRY From The Buffalo Commercial.

From The Buffalo Commercial.

In a recent report on "Experimental Farms," issued by the Canadian Government, W. T. Macoun, Foreman of Forestry, makes many suggestions as to how unsightly spots on the farm may be made attractive and productive. Mr. Macoun says: "No matter how small the plot of ground or how situated there is no reason why it should be an eyesore. It is this utilization of every nook, corner and cranny and the making of two blades of grass to grow where a weed grew before, that has made rural England so beautiful to the eye and so pleasing to the esthetic sense. The agricultural and pastoral landscapes in England, where the little farms are green to the very door, have been described as jewel scenery. There seems to be no good reason why the rural districts of New-Jersey, New-York and of other States could not be made equally attractive and fruitful."

Mr. Macoun has utilized all of these waste places about the offices and buildings of the Forestry Department at Central Experimental Farm. In his report he thus writes of the improvement of these odd corners:

"The land adjacent to the office and other build."

partment at Central Experimental Fam. In his odd corners:
"The land adjacent to the office and other buildings which has been devoted to the cultivation of ornamental trees and shrubs looked better this year than ever before. As the trees increase in size from year to year the landscape becomes more beautiful; the effects, also, of the grouping are more apparent, and show pleasing combinations and contrasts of color and form. A number of the species are also beginning to hear freely their white, yellow, red, scarlet, purple and black fruits, which still further heightens the effect. The flower borders and beds were a mass of bloom from early in the summer to late in the autumn, cannas, gladioil and asters being particularly fine. More hedges have been planted, and some small additional areas seeded down. The trees and shrubs planted during the last two seasons now add very much to the attractiveness of this section of the much to the attractiveness of this section of the farm."

The foreman also calls attention to a large number of trees and shrubs suitable for hedges and ornamental purposes. He now has hedges of seventy-five different species. Among the ornamental trees Mr. Macoun mentions several beautiful varieties from Japan and China, such as the syrings, the Katsura tree, the Japanese quince and the exquisitely beautiful maidenhair tree, or Gingko hitches.

REVIVALS OF ANARCHY.

CLOSE CO-OPERATION BETWEEN THE LAW HATERS OF FRANCE AND SPAIN.

SENOR CANOVAS WAS FOREMOST ON THE LIST OF PROPOSED VICTIMS-WARNINGS HAD BEEN GIVEN - WHAT THE FRENCH PAPERS SAY.

Paris Correspondence of the London Globe.

The assassination of Señor Canovas del Castillo is, it need hardly be said, the absorbing topic of to-day. Notwithstanding the fact that warnings and menaces had been issued by the Anarchiss, the news caused the greatest surprise in Paris. By a strange but significant coincidence, a revolutionary meeting was held last night in the Théatre de la République, at which the speakers, composed of Frenchmen and Spaniards, made the most violent attacks on the Spanish Government. The object of the meeting was to organize a fête for the benefit of the Spanish revolutionists called the "martyrs of Montjuich." One of the speakers was a Spanish Anarchist, who drew a terrible picture of the tortures which he said were perpetrated on the prisoners confined in the fortress of Montjuich. He proposed to form a jury of international honor before which he would produce proofs of the atrocities committed by the Spanish jailers. "This campaign of indignation and horror against the odicus deeds of our enemies," exclaimed the orator, "I shall continue so long as a drop of blood remains in my veins. I shall go everywhere, in France, Engiand and Beigium, to denounce the acts of these monsters in human shape and to nail them to the pillory of humanity." This diatribe was followed by another of the same kind, in the course of which the Spanish Government was described as a butcher to whom no mercy should be shown. Both these speeches were warmly applauded by the company. Paris Correspondence of the London Globe to take such steps as they may deem hecessary to test the right of the railroad companies to occupy the avenue, as they are now doing and propose to do, and what relief, if any, can be obtained, either by the taxpayers or the abutting property-owners, against the impending danger.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Chair to wait upon the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and request in the name of the West Side residents and property-owners that an effort be made to arrange with the Third Avenue Railroad Company for the joint use of two tracks only on Amsterdam-ave.

The General Committee who called the meeting are the Rev. D- John P. Peters, chairman; Fred L. Beattys. Hilland Flowers, Thomas A Fulton. their track, and eventually they returned to Spain. At the same time, however, they managed to carry out their infernal designs, probably with the help of their French colleagues. In Paris small bills bearing the following inscription. "A bas Canovas, Les martyrs seront vengés! Vive l'Anarchie!" were posted on the walls near the Elysée and the Chamber. Accompanying them were threats of revenge against the Queen Regent and her Prime Minister. The Spanish Embassy likewise received menaces of execution. Simultaneously a group of Spanish refugees held a private meeting on Friday, and another on Saturday, in both of which places, it is said, it was announced that "the wretch Canovas would soon pay his debt of blood."

COMMENTS OF THREE ANARCHISTS.

Comments of three Anarchists.

To-day I came across three Spanish Anarchists who took part in the meeting at the Théâtre de la République, alluded to above. They at first received me coldly, 'f not with suspicion, but gradually they gave vent to their opinions. It was not till late in the evening, they said, that they received the news of the assassination, which was communicated to them by one of their friends. 'It is not without apprehension that we regard the future, sines it is certain that the responsibility of the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably be expelled from France. As regards the 'execution' if was bound to occur, it face of the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably be expelled from France. As regards the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably be expelled from France. As regards the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably be expelled from France. As regards the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably he expelled from France. As regards the 'execution' will be laid on us, and we shall probably he expelled from France. I asked them why they looked forward to this assassination, to which they replied, "Because those who have been exiled write to these who continued their companions. Vengez-nous:" Because those who have been exiled write to these who remain, who have been exiled write to these who remain, who have been exiled write to these who remain, who have been exiled write to these who remain, who have been exiled write to these who remain. Italy and other countries encouragement and funds to replace those who have been exiled and to avenge their memories."

Señor Canovas had all the qualities necessary for a statesman. A self-made man, he attained to the highest position in his country. He came of a middest family, and was the son of a schoolmaster. Although very proud, his tastes were simple. He wrote several remarkable works, amo

PERSONAL QUALITIES OF CANOVAS.

PERSONAL QUALITIES OF CANOVAS.

An indefatigable worker, and very active, he found the means of devoting himself to literature, in spite of his numerous political duties. He has left one of the richest libraries in Spain. He was very honest, and even his political adversaries did him justice, and respected him. Although of a political and affable nature, he would never listen to compromise. He was witty, and at times rather to compromise. He was witty, and at times rather to pungent. His predominant passion was always literature, which he preferred to politics. He himself was wont to say that he was a literary man lost in the desert of politics. He was much loved and greatly esteemed by the Queen Regent, who knew that she had in him a firm supporter of her dynasty. The comments of the French papers on the event are not particularly remarkable. A brief summary of some of the more important organs of public opinior may, however, he quoted. The "Figaro" says: "These sudden revivals of anarchy, which, after a deceptive period of calm, break out in a manner more odious than ever, now in one country, and now in another, fill all peoples with the same reprobation and dietate to all Governments the same duties." The "Gaulois" observes: "Sefor Canovas dies at the age of sixty-nine, and his name, surrounded with the crown of glory, will remain in the annals of the nineteenth century as that of a great statesman whose talents as a writer and orator spread iustre over his country. The "Autorite" remarks: "This time, again, as in the murder of M. Carnot, the author of the crime is an Italian Anarchist. The event furnishes matter for serious reflection, and vigorous decision on the part of the Government. The Anarchial party, whien it was thought ha: been annihilated, was only sleeping, and has now woke up armed with weapons reflection of the England of the serious reflection of the serious PERSONAL QUALITIES OF CANOVAS.

STILL RUSHING TOWARD THE YUKON. MEN CONFIDENT OF CROSSING THE PASSES-

NARROW-GAUGE RAILROAD PROPOSED. Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 9.-The steamed Queen has sailed for Alaska, and, notwithstanding the fact that on her return from the North, only four days ago, she brought thirty-five disgusted men from Skaguay, she carried north 119 bound for the Klondike, via Dyea. They all expressed themselves as confident of their ability to cross the pass and reach Dawson City this fall. Stories of the miserable condition of the pass appear to have no influence on the people in their mad rush for the gold fields. San Francisco. Sept. 9.—A company is being organized here, and will be incorporated under the laws of Arlzona within three days, which has for its object the construction of a narrow-gauge railway from tide water on Prince William Sound up the valley of the much-talked-of Copper River, and thence across the divide to a point on the Yukon River near the boundary line. Its name will be the Alaska Central Railway Company, and its capital stock $5,000,000. The promoter of the enterprise is Colonel John Underwood, of this city. formerly an extensive rallway contractor. Associated with him, he says, are Elijah Smith. of New-York, the controlling spirit of the Oregon Improvement Company; John W. Cudahy and P. D. Armour, the Chicago packers, and one or two local capitalists. The proposed road will be about 22 miles long. Senator Perkins and Captain Goodal are mentioned as possible members of the Board of Directors.

Directors.

Among the passengers who sailed for the North on board the steamer Umatilla from this port were Captain A. E. Rogers and James Evans, the Commissioners appointed by the State Department to investigate and report on the best means of reventing the blockade south of the Yukon and preventing the threatened famine in the Klondike region.

GOLD IN NEW-MEXICO NOW.

Santa Fé, N. M., Sept. 9 .- Reports from Golden, South Santa Fé County, say that in sinking a tubth lar well to secure a water supply the drill passed through fifty feet of solid quartz, every foot of which shows free gold. Some of the gold nuggets are as large as grains of wheat. The discovery was made on virgin ground, at a depth of 359 feet.
